FIRENZI IN TWO HEATS.

WINNING THE GREAT LONG ISLAND STAKES.

A WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE WITH HEAVY

WEIGHT The closing day of the autumn meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club exhibited the surpassing Floring excellence of that marvellous filly Firenzi in a way the wife. that the spectators will never forget. Many of her warmest admirers were doubtful of her ability to take up 125 pounds and win heats at a mile and a furlong against so strong a field, with so extensive concessions of weight to her adversaries, but she not only accomplished it in two straight heats, but did it in fast time, and romped home in each heat. There was no race at all, indeed, so far as she was concerned. Never was a gamer, faster, nobler filly bred. Refore her achievements the glories of Blink Bouny, Alice Hawthorne, Crucifix, Shotover, Pia senterie, Spinaway, Miss Woodford, Thora, and all the other famous fillies in the annals of the turf pale and grow dim. She is a little thing, but she is a diamond edition of all that is best in racing. Of course, she was the favorite in the beiting and the pet of the public; and yet the task set her was so heavy that she was backed with some doubt and uncertainty, and the bookmakers, before the first heat, freely bet 7 to 10 and even 75 to 100 against her. It is probable that never again, at least in the autumn months, when she is fully herself, can such betting be obtained against this queen of the running turf, in any company, with any weight, at any distance, in any circum-All honor to Firenzi! No praise seems too high for her, no eulogy overdone

Mr. Haggin made up his mind that there should be no danger of losing this prize through any carclessness or bad judgment in riding. The instructions which were given to Garrison were of the clearest and most positive sort. He was told both by the owner of Firenzi and by the presiding judge, Captain Bradford, that if he did not obey those instructions there would be trouble. He rods her to perfection. There was none of the stlly nonsense that has been seen in handling this peerless mare in some of her stake races this year, as in the handling of many other horses by all the so-called crack juckeys except McLaughlin, of waiting far behind the field and of trying to make up an impossible amount of ground with a rush at the finish. Garrison's orders were too sharp and strong for that, and he knew that if he threw away the race by disobedience his career on the turf would be suddenly and swiftly closed. That seems to be the judicious way to treat our independent and valugiorious lockeys. Firenzi was well up with the leading horses In every stride of both heats, and in both heats she simply cantered home, the easiest possible of winners. What might have happened if the goose-step policy had been pursued with her which pursued with Dunboyne may be left to the imagination. Even Firenzi can be made to lose races by careless and injudicious riding.

SOME OF THE MYSTERIES OF THE TURF. Only a few days ago Hayward on Eurus rode one of the best races of the year. Yesterday on Dunboyne he rode one of the worst. It is hard to consider such botching with any patience or toleration. He handled this horse as blindly and as badly as he handled Reividere in his last race at MonmonthPark. A Skyle old have ridden Belvidere better thi was ridden be Hayward at Monmouth, and a Prince Charles spaniel could have ridden Dunboyne better than he was ridden by Hayward vesterday. It was indeed plais for those who have praised the skill of this jockey warmly and cordially in the past to see so mane and imbecile a failure as this. Dunboyne the way and Exile could not catch birr was there any sense then in keeping Dunboyne far back in the a rush in the homestretch, allowing that rattle-pated, flash-in-the-pan heast. Brown Duko, to get second place? What made this wretched riding particularly reprehensible and particularly unfortunate was the fact that Dunboyne was a great favorite in every form of hetting for the place. The was a like on the place of of betting for the place. He was laid up in the first with him. That was proper enough. The place dewon the race in two straight heats. If McLaughlin had en on Dunboyne instead of on Extle no man in his senses can doubt that Dunboyne would have got second position to Firenzi in the second heat and carried off second money. What a boon to the bookmakers it was that Hayward rode this horse so foolishiy and so wildly! His blundering gave second place to Brown Duke, the rankest of outsiders, on whom hardly a dollar was bet either straight or place, while Dunboyne carried much money for the place all through the betting ring. Day after day it becomes clearer that of all the jockeys in the country who ride at over 110 pounds McLaughlin is the only one that can be trusted not to throw away races by pulling his horses back out | Lit of the race, as was done with Belvidere and Dunboyne. stride. He should have been ridden all the way in the second heat. He could not possibly have beaten Firenzi, but he would have made her run faster than Prown Duke ever did, and he would have got second

THE MANAGEMENT MUCH COMMENDED.

Mr. Caldwell's starts were again faultiess, and the management gave no opportunity for criticism. Expressions of gratitude to the Coney Island Jochey Club for having afforded racegoers two weeks of the control of the c two weeks of so varied, picturesque, diverting and attractive sport were heard on all sides.

Next to the great Long Island Stakes the interest of the day clustered chiefly about the Campaign Stakes for two-year-olds, although it was diminished by the absence of both of Mr. Haggin's entries, Salvator and Fresno. Salvator was slightly cut in one leg the other day, and was withdrawn on that account, for the Campaign hopeless. Madwas a strong favorite, amounts put on Long Dance, Philander and Once Again. Eric, the winner, was an outsider at long odds, and on his previous running had no chance. of the stable of Pierre Lorillard, ir. Of course, his victory in the Campaign will enhance his price, and yet he was by no means the best horse in this race. The incidents and accidents of this race burt the It will take years to get jockeys accustomed to it so that they can ride with any judgment, self-control and skill. It will take a generation or two to make it popular with the public, who like to see every stride of a race. It will take a long time to get the horses so familiar with it that they can run straight and well upon it. Horses are work to no oval courses. Jockeys ride them usually on oval courses. Jockeys ride them usually on oval courses. Then when they run on the Puturity both jockeys and horses make the wildest mess of it. The advocates of the Puturity course claim that it prevents jostling, crowding and pocketing, and yet in no race seen on an oval course this year was there so much jostling, pocketing and foul.

The Lady

Who has fine Hair, and desires to proserve its color, abundance, and lustre, should use Ayer's Hair Vigor as dressing. It keeps the scalp clean and cool, and is by far the most exquisite toilet preparation in the market.

B. M. Johnson, M. D., Thomas Hill, Mo., says: "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor in my family for a number of years, and regard it as the best hair preparation I know of. It keeps the scalp clean, the hair soft and lively, and preserves the original color. My wile has used it for a long time with most eathsfactory results."

Mrs. S. A. Rock, of Anderson, Texas, writes: "At the age of 34, in Monroe, La., I had a severe attack of swamp, or malarial, fever. After I got well my hair commenced coming out, and so continued until it had well nigh all gone. I used several kinds of hair restorers, but they did no good. A friend gave me a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor. Before finishing the first bottle my hair began to grow, and by the time I used three bottles, I had a fine head of hair."

Ayer's Hair Vigor, PREPARED BY Da J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. clearest and most flagrant manner twice in the homestretch. Once Again also fouled the favorite. In fact, half a dozen horses came together at the head of the homestretch and humped again and again on their way down to the finish line. Most of them were staggering and swerving from distress because the little foots to the saidles had been diffing them so insanely and violently uplail in the early part of the Futurity course. The judges themselves expected a couplaint of foul against Eric. They said so after the race, but for some strange reason no complaint was made by owner, trainer or jockey of Madstine. It was a good stake, worth about $31.888 to the winner, about $11.125 to the second horse, and about $612 to the third. The spectators and most of the press reporters thought that Long Dance bear Madstone had been so humped and jostilod, and knocked about all over the course by Eric and Once Again that he was unable to finish with any speed. But the judges placed Madstone third. Now, if complaints of foul had been made against Eric and Once Again, and sustained, as they ought to have been, Madstone would have received first money in this stake. But Madstone was so strong a favorite, and so heavily backed that his failure to pass the line first or second was one of the best things for the book makers which they have had this year. Possibly somebody prevalled on the jockey, trainer, or owner of Madstone, or all three not to make any complaint of foul. It was certainly prevented the victory of the favorite that no question was raised. The judges acted strictly according to the letter of the racing rules, as was clearly their right, and took no action, because no complaint was made. If a complaint had been put in, they would have made a thorough investigation, and the probabilities are that they would have been compelled, though with deep regret of course, to set back Eric and possibly Once Again also.

RUNNING A HORSE TOTALLY UNFIT TO RACE. The second race furnished an example of the performances which bring sectous discredit on the turf and tend to drive from it gentlemen who have any care for their own reputations and the respect of their fellow-men. The turf has lost Pierre Lorillard, and i prominent citizens in the last ten or fifteen years, who far more if the jockey clubs do not take some steps to stop such performances as that of the starting of run and could not show a trace of his usual speed. put a dollar on him.
